AUDITORIUM THEATRE OF ROOSEVELT UNIVERSITY PRESENTS A SPLENDID GALA TO CELEBRATE THE CHICAGO PREMIERE OF MARGARET GARNER
SUNDAY, NOV. 2

Gala to Feature Matinee Performance of Toni Morrison and Richard Danielpour's
Acclaimed Opera starring world-renowned mezzo soprano Denyce Graves, followed by a Reception, Dinner and Entertainment at the Palmer House Hilton

CHICAGO – The Auditorium Theatre of Roosevelt University will host an unforgettable gala on Sunday, Nov. 2 to celebrate the Chicago premiere of Margaret Garner, a new American opera based on one of the most significant and controversial fugitive slave stories in pre-Civil War America.

The gala begins at 3 p.m. at the Auditorium Theatre, 50 E. Congress Parkway, where guests will gather to enjoy the epic opera. Internationally renowned mezzo-soprano Denyce Graves stars in the title role, a role written specifically with her in mind. The opera is directed by Broadway sensation Kenny Leon and features music by Grammy Award-winning composer Richard Danielpour and a libretto by Nobel and Pulitzer Prize-winning author Toni Morrison.

Following the opera, the gala moves to the Palmer House Hilton, 17 E. Monroe, where guests can enjoy a cocktail reception in the beautifully restored and renovated Grand and State Ballrooms before enjoying a superb dinner with the opera's cast and creators. Live entertainment caps the extraordinary evening of music, powerful artistry and brilliant performances.

Tables of ten tickets to the gala are available for $5,000, $7,500 or $10,000. Individual tickets are priced at $500 or $750. For more information, call (312) 922-2110 ext. 368 or e-mail amartinez@auditoriumtheatre.org.

The Margaret Garner Gala co-chairs are Sandra and Timothy Rand and Andrea and William Zopp. The Gala sponsor is Exelon Corporation.

The Margaret Garner Project co-chairs are James and Mary Bell, Bob and Marjilee Blackwell and Gail Waller and Tim Schwertfeger. The Margaret Garner Executive Committee chairs are Amina Dickerson and Anna E. Roosevelt.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF MARGARET GARNER

Margaret Garner is based on the true story of one of the most significant and controversial cases of all antebellum fugitive slave stories. Margaret Garner's love for her husband and children fueled her ongoing fight for survival as she endured unimaginable abuse and hardship. In 1856, Garner and her husband fled with their children to Ohio in an attempt to escape their lives as slaves at Kentucky's Maplewood Farm. Facing recapture, Garner made the chilling decision to attempt to kill herself and her two children, rather than see them return to the bonds of slavery. As her husband was dragged from their hiding place, Garner succeeded in killing her two-year-old daughter before being overpowered by a party of U.S. marshals. Margaret Garner's trial became the longest fugitive slave case of this era. An intense national debate – over whether Garner should be tried for “destruction of property” or murder – directly and blatantly addressed critical questions that fueled the Civil War.
